

Claiming tax relief against your CORU annual retention fee

Registered CORU professionals may claim tax relief (at 20%) against the CORU annual retention fee where there is a statutory requirement for registration with CORU. This does not apply when a register is still open for grandparenting and whilst the relevant title is not protected.

The documentary evidence of payment of your annual retention fee is the payment receipt. The receipt is now automatically e-mailed to registrants after online renewal has taken place.

If you cannot retrieve your receipt, you can login and resend the receipt or print a copy of that receipt or retention certificate. Please go to the CORU home page and click on the tab button "Pin Based Renewal and Login" and enter your registration number, PIN number and your date of birth.

Your registration number and PIN is on your renewal notice and is also presented in renewal reminder e-mails that are issued by CORU. You may also contact CORU to be e-mailed your renewal credentials.

The screenshot shows a web page titled "Login" with a sub-heading "PIN Based Renewal Login". Below the heading, there is a paragraph of instructions: "Please enter your registration number and PIN (as provided on your Registration Renewal Notice) into the boxes below along with your date of birth." and another line: "You may also enter the registration number without prefix or leading zeros." The form contains three input fields: "Registration Number:" with a text box and a help icon, "Renewal PIN" with a text box and a help icon, and "Date of Birth" with three dropdown menus and a help icon. A "Login" button is located at the bottom left of the form area.

Click on the "Certificate and Receipt" option on the menu on the left hand side of the page to view and print your receipt or Certificate of Retention. You may receive the message that "you do not need to renew at this time" when you login.
