Introduction

About the Dietitians Registration Board

The Dietitians Registration Board has statutory responsibility for the registration of members of the profession; approval and monitoring of education and training programmes; establishing the code of professional conduct and ethics and standards of performance that dietitians must adhere to and recognition of qualifications gained outside the State.

About CORU

CORU is responsible for regulating health and social care professions. It comprises the Health and Social Care Professionals Council and the registration boards established under the Health and Social Care Professionals Act 2005 (as amended).

CORU's role is to protect the public by promoting high standards of professional conduct, education, training and competence amongst the designated professions.

The designated professions under the Act are clinical biochemists, counsellors, dietitians, dispensing opticians, medical scientists, occupational therapists, optometrists, orthoptists, physiotherapists, podiatrists, psychologists, psychotherapists, radiation therapists, radiographers, social care workers, social workers and speech and language therapists.

The Public Consultation Process

Background

The Dietitians Registration Board is responsible for protecting the public by promoting high standards of professional conduct, education, training and competence through the statutory registration of dietitians.

Publicising the Consultation Process

A public consultation on the Elections of members to the Dietitians Registration Board Bye-Law 2023 was held between Tuesday 02 May 2023 and Wednesday 31 May 2023. A number of channels were used to publicise the consultation process and invite the submission of observations. These included:

- An advertisement was placed in The Irish Times newspaper in English and Irish on Tuesday 16 May 2023. (See appendix 1)
- Information on the consultation was hosted on the CORU website. (See appendix 2)
- An online feedback form was developed and a link to this form was included in the public consultation notice on the CORU website. (See appendix 3)
- Social media posts were published on CORU's LinkedIn and Twitter profiles to encourage interested stakeholders to submit their feedback on the bye-law (See appendix 4)

People were invited to participate in the consultation process in a number of ways:

- They could visit www.coru.ie and choose to complete an online feedback form, to print a copy of the form and post it, or email it to CORU.
- They could email submissions to consultation@coru.ie.
